

I believe the FCC should not take any action that would override the current telephone privacy law in Indiana. Since the enactment of this law I no longer receive calls several times a day. We used to "joke" when the phone rang at dinner time that it was someone trying to sell us something. It was also annoying to hear we had been preselected for some offer for homeowners when we rent. I have a business in my home. I must be available to take calls, but also must concentrate on the work I do. There were many times I would receive such a call that would break my concentration. I have been told that when interrupted it takes 12 minutes to regain the thought process you are in. Several unwanted phone calls a day affected the efficiency and quality of my work. This law is necessary. I have never hung up on anyone on the phone since this law has been introduced. Our lives are less stressful since the introduction of this law. Please do not take action to reduce the effectiveness of this law that protects my privacy.
